The Cold War as Sports History
W 4.40 – 7 pm
Gilman 119

Instructor: Dr. Victoria Harms

Email: vharms1@jhu.edu

Office hours: Tuesdays, 10 am - 12 pm and by appointment; 342 Gilman Hall

Description

In this class, we will investigate how the Cold War has shaped national and international sports and the role of athletes in society and politics. Race, gender and class are social constructions that are inextricably intertwined with Cold War sports history. We will discuss the ways in which sports confirm and consolidate but also challenge and change social structures and opportunities of self-fulfillment and social advancement.

Sports history facilitates engaging with and understanding the history of the Cold War as well as its lasting legacy. This seminar is based on the premise that sports are as much a reflection of society as they are a constitutive part thereof. We will seek answers to questions such as: How is the Cold War reflected in sports, sports competition and athletic bodies? What do we learn from sports about individual and collective identities during the Cold War? How has the Cold War shaped sports nationally and internationally? Do sports reveal a certain Cold War way of thinking?

Students are expected to engage with academic and non-academic literature on the topic, primary sources, documentary and feature films. Plan to read between forty to sixty-five pages per week. This is a discussion-based class. Be prepared to read short texts and watch short videos in class and discuss them. We will split up in smaller groups during some sessions to discuss primary sources, movies, or the reading assignment. You will need a laptop, smartphone or tablet for some of the in-class assignments.

Learning objectives:

- ✓ Assessing secondary literature
- ✓ Deconstructing historical narratives
- ✓ Analyzing and interpreting primary sources, including audio-visual material
- ✓ Understanding concepts such as nationalism, racism, gender, class, etc.
- ✓ Working within comparative & transnational history

General Reading:

Allen Guttman. The Olympics: A History of the Modern Games, 2nd edition. University of Illinois Press, 2002.

Assignments:

Participation

Participation, not just attendance, is key. Make sure you come to class prepared and on time. You are expected to engage with the assigned readings, additional material and your peers during discussion sessions and group work. Common rules of courtesy apply.

Reading Notes

For each class, you are expected to submit a short reading note to blackboard. Reading notes (in this case also listening notes) are short summaries in your own words of the topic, main argument/ main points and the evidence the author(s) use(s) to corroborate claims.

Please submit your note as a thread to the discussion section of that week on blackboard (main menu → discussion → corresponding week). Each note is graded on a scale of 1-5. Overall, the reading notes make up 25% of your final grade.

Please make sure to submit your note until 3.30 pm of the same day.

Written Assignments

In addition to the formal requirements specified below, the essays are graded based on the primary and secondary sources consulted, clarity of argument, style of writing, and organization of the paper.

This is a history class. You will have to research primary sources. Online secondary sources only will not be sufficient for a passing grade.

Formal requirements:

- Margins 1” all around, 12 pt. font size, font: Times (New Roman), Arial, Calibri, Cambria or similar.
- Submit on blackboard.
- Add page numbers.
- Add your name.
- List of references appears on a separate page (does not count towards page limit)

Essay I: Event/ Person (7 pages max.)

In the first essay, you are asked to discuss a person or an event that reflects Cold War sports history.

Please inform the instructor of your person/ event by March 15 on blackboard (journal: Essay I) and submit a preliminary list of literature and sources you wish to consult.

Deadline: March 30, 2018, 11:59 pm.

Essay II: Movie (6 pages max.)

Pick a movie from the list below and analyze its content within the history of Cold War.

You have to introduce a research question, a thesis and a well-argued, well-structured argument highlighting the relevance of the movie you chose to sports history.

Please inform the instructor of your choice by April 4 on blackboard and submit a preliminary list of literature and sources you wish to consult for this assignment.

Selection of movies (all available at reserves in the library):

- Miracle on Ice, dir. by Steven Hilliard Stern, 1981.
[alternatively: Miracle, dir. by Gavin O’Connor, 2004.]
- Nadia, dir. by Allen Cooke, 1984.

General policies

Absences

Absences are excused for illness, religious observance, participation in certain university activities, and other circumstances described in the university's policies and must be explained at least 6 hours before class.

Academic Integrity

The strength of the university depends on academic and personal integrity. In this course, you must be honest and truthful. Ethical violations include cheating on exams, reuse of assignments, plagiarism, improper use of the Internet and electronic devices, unauthorized collaboration, forgery and falsification, lying, facilitating academic dishonesty, and unfair competition. See Ethics Board Web Site (<http://ethics.jhu.edu>).

Accommodations

Accommodations will be made for those who need them. Please come talk with me in the first two weeks of the semester to discuss your needs. Any student with a disability who may need accommodations in this class must obtain an accommodation letter from Student Disability Services, 385 Garland, (410) 516-4720, studentdisabilityservices@jhu.edu.

Communication

I read and respond to email during regular business hours, 9-5, Monday thru Friday. Please use proper formatting and address when writing your email. The best way to reach me is to come to my office hours.

Mental Health

The University is aware that many students experience anxiety, depression, and other emotional challenges. If you would like to speak to a professional counselor, please visit the campus Counseling Center. Information is available on the Counseling Center's website: <https://studentaffairs.jhu.edu/counselingcenter/>

Screen Policy

Laptops, electronic readers, and smartphones are both a boon and a distraction to higher education. Research suggests that most of us learn better through longhand note taking. Electronic devices are not banned from this class; you will actually need them for some in-class assignments. It is your choice how to make the best use of them. Make sure all of your devices are silenced.
