Description

There is more to Germany than beer, BMWs, and Bayern Munich. In this class, we will explore the history of Germany since 1740. Our focus will be the 20th century. We will interrogate the relationship between politics, culture, economics and society to understand Germany’s position within Europe and the world throughout the last 150 years. The class pays special attention to the making of the German Empire and its collapse in World War I, the interwar period and the short-lived Weimar Republic, National Socialism and the Third Reich, World War II and the Holocaust, the two Germanies (East and West) during the Cold War, the Berlin Republic since 1989 and Germany’s role in the European Union today. We will investigate German history in relation to its European neighbors and its friends and foes around the world.

Apart from reading secondary literature and primary sources, students are expected to engage in class discussions and group work, and analyze movies, documentary films, short video clips and conduct independent research online.

This syllabus serves as a contract between you and me that explains what I expect of you, and what you may expect of me. By enrolling in this class, you accept the terms laid out below. Please read them carefully. In the unlikely case that I need to make changes to the syllabus, I will provide as much advanced notice as possible.

Please allow at least 24 hours for responses to email inquiries during the semester.
Whenever you have any procedural concerns or questions about rules and formalities, please let me know.

Please declare your preferred name and pronoun.

Your time at Hopkins can be stressful, and the various expectations that you are confronted with can feel overwhelming. Please make sure to stay healthy and protect your physical, emotional, and mental well-being. Take the necessary precautions, and seek professional support if necessary. Do not hesitate to reach out to the Counseling Center during regular working hours 410-516-8278. After hours: press 1. A trained, professional, and diverse staff is ready to assist you.

If you find yourself in a hostile or adverse environment, please take good care of yourself. Your personal safety and emotional and mental well-being is more important than this class. If you sense that something is not right, do not wait, trust your instinct, talk to friends, get assistance. Do not hesitate to reach out to the Counseling Center during regular working hours 410-516-8278. After hours: press 1.

Required Reading:

COVID-19 PROTOCOL

Please make sure to complete the prodensity health check before coming to class, honor testing and vaccination requirements and any other safety and public health regulation introduced on Homewood campus and the City of Baltimore as we continue to navigate the pandemic. Please prepare for changes during the semester. Let’s stay flexible and let’s keep each other safe!

If you attend in-person, please have a mobile device, preferably your laptop, and headphones with you for all sessions. You will be asked to interact with your peers on zoom, including during group work sessions. So please have the necessary gadgets ready to make this as smooth of an interaction as possible.

Grading:

25% Class participation
25% Commentary
25% Quizzes
25% Primary source analysis

Assignments:

Class Participation: 25%

Make sure you show up to class prepared and on time. This is an interactive lecture course. You are expected to engage with the instructors, assigned material, and your fellow students in break out rooms. Common rules of courtesy apply. Treat everyone kindly and with respect.

Attendance is the most basic requirement for a college education, even if it is remotely. If you miss more than four classes unexcused/ without legitimate reasons (such as illness, conflicting athletic or academic obligations) you will not receive a passing grade.

Pop Quizzes: 25%

We will write six pop quizzes during the term. The lowest grade will be dropped. Each quiz is worth five points. There will be no make-up quizzes.

For each week, you will find reading questions on blackboard. The pop quiz will be one of those, and you are encouraged to copy the response from your notes to blackboard. You will have five minutes in class to submit and tweak them. If you have taken hand-written notes, you may upload a photo.

If you miss class for legitimate reasons (e.g. conflicting academic obligations) and inform the instructor in advance, you are free to submit your reading notes by email. In case of a pop quiz, those notes will count in lieu of the in-class quiz.

Primary Source Analysis: 25%
Pick a primary source from the list provided on blackboard and write a proper primary source analysis. We will discuss the details and expectations in class and provide a checklist on blackboard.

Make sure to properly introduce the source and author. Identify the audience, the author’s intention, possible biases and the author’s message. Be very clear about the historical context in which the source has been produced. Carefully differentiate between the history that has informed author and source prior to its production and the aftermath and consequence following its production and reception. (max. 6 pages plus bibliography)

Please declare your choice of primary source by OCTOBER 1, 2021 EOD. You will find the journal “Primary Source Analysis” on blackboard. Please enter your choice and any questions there. Please add the literature and sources you wish to consult to complete this assignment. The content of your journal entry is only accessible to you, the instructor and the TA.

Deadline: OCTOBER 13, 2021, EOD. (blackboard turnitin assignment)

Commentary/ Reflection “Diversity, Race, and Racism”: 25%

On October 28, 2021, two speakers from Germany, Alice Hasters and Dr. Patrice Poutrus, will join us for a roundtable discussion on Morgan State Campus.

You are expected to write a paper loosely about the topics of race, racism, anti-racism, and diversity in Germany. The specific focus of the paper is your choice, but you are expected to present an academic argument. A comparative approach and an argument that includes your own experiences is more than acceptable. Consider this a well-argued reflection on the topic, in which you engage with the speakers’ presentations, assignments you have done for his class (and others), and independent research.

Please respect the rules of academic writing, introduce, and organize your argument, and observe the formal requirements for any piece of academic writing you submit.

Please submit your topic and preliminary list of resources you wish to consult and any questions to the corresponding journal on blackboard by NOVEMBER 6, 2021 EOD.

Five pages max, double space (plus list of references/ bibliography)

Deadline: NOVEMBER 27, 2021 EOD. (blackboard Turnitin)

General policies

Absences
Absences are excused for illness, religious observance, participation in certain university activities, and other circumstances described in the university’s policies and must be explained to your instructor before class.

If you miss more than four classes (unexcused/ without legitimate reasons, such as conflicting athletic, ROTC, academic obligations) you will not receive a passing grade. If you miss class for reasons other than illness, please make sure to complete the assigned reading and submit your reading note(s) for that week.

Academic Integrity
The strength of the university depends on academic and personal integrity. In this course, you must be honest and truthful. Ethical violations include cheating on exams, plagiarism, reuse of assignments, improper use of the Internet and electronic devices, unauthorized collaboration, alteration of graded assignments, forgery and falsification, lying, facilitating academic dishonesty, and unfair competition. See Provost’s web site for more information.

Students with Disabilities - Accommodations and Accessibility
Johns Hopkins University values diversity and inclusion. We are committed to providing welcoming, equitable, and accessible educational experiences for all students. Students with disabilities (including those with psychological conditions, medical conditions and temporary disabilities) can request accommodations for this course by providing an Accommodation Letter issued by Student Disability Services (SDS). Please request accommodations for this course as early as possible to provide time for effective communication and arrangements. For more, see https://studentaffairs.jhu.edu/disabilities/about/accommodation-descriptions/

Communication
Please use proper formatting and address when writing your email. The best way to reach me is to come to my office hours. Allow 24 hours for email responses.

Mental Health
The University is aware that many students experience anxiety, depression, and other emotional challenges. If you would like to speak to a professional counselor, please visit the campus Counseling Center.

Screen Policy COVID
Please put all devices except the one you are using away. Turn off notifications and sounds on all other devices. Use your device only for class-related work.
