The zoom meeting is reserved for students who cannot attend in person for physical/ mental health reasons and out of community safety concerns.

Description

In this class, we will investigate how the Cold War has shaped the organization, practice, political use, and practices of sports on a national and international level as well as the roles athletes have played in the second half of the twentieth century.

Sports history facilitates engaging with and understanding the history of the Cold War as well as its legacies. This seminar is based on the premise that sports are as much a reflection of society as they are a constitutive part thereof. Race, gender, and class are social constructions that are inextricably intertwined with Cold War sports history. We will discuss the ways in which sports confirm and consolidate but also challenge and change perceptions and social structures, expand and limit opportunities of self-fulfillment and social advancement.

Students are expected to engage with academic and non-academic literature on the topic, primary sources, documentary and feature films. Expect to read between forty to sixty-five pages of text, listen to 15-minute podcast episodes, and/ or watch 1.5 hours of movies and documentaries per week.

This is a discussion-based class. Be prepared to read short texts and watch videos in class and discuss them with your peers.

This syllabus serves as a contract between you and me that explains what I expect of you, and what you may expect of me. By enrolling in this class, you accept the terms laid out below. Please read them carefully. If at any time I need to make changes to the syllabus, I will provide as much advanced notice as possible.

Learning objectives:

- ✓ Assessing and summarizing secondary literature
- ✓ Deconstructing historical narratives and social constructions about sports
- ✓ Understanding the cultural, political, and economic implications of sports
- ✓ Interdisciplinary approaches to sports (history of technology, medicine, sports, econ, media studies, etc.)
- ✓ Analyzing and interpreting primary sources, including audio-visual material
- ✓ Understanding the social construction of concepts such as nationalism, racism, gender, and class
- ✓ Working within comparative, entangled & transnational history
- ✓ Leading and contributing to group discussions
- ✓ Visualizing arguments and findings
- ✓ Independent research
- ✓ Assessing popular culture (e.g. movies, monuments)
- ✓ Comprehending the global context of sports as well as its local implications

Assignments

Grading:

- ✓ 25% Participation
- ✓ 30% Reading Notes
- ✓ 25% Essay I (open topic)
- ✓ 20% Essay II (movie)

Do not attempt to negotiate your final grade, please.

The official cut off between an A and an A- is 94.0. You have all semester to prove you are an "A student." Belated complaints and negotiations are unfair to your peers and disrespectful to the instructors.

Please note the changes to the incomplete grade policy. For more information, please consult the Office of the University Registrar's website.

Participation: 25%

Make sure you come to class prepared and on time. Attendance does not equal participation. It is the most basic requirement for a college education. If you miss more than four classes unexcused/ without legitimate reasons (such as illness, conflicting athletic or academic obligations) you will not receive a passing grade.

We will spend most of class time in group work. You are expected to engage with the assigned material and your peers. Common rules of courtesy apply. Please treat everyone with kindness and respect.

You are encouraged to ask questions, even if you only ask for clarification. This is your class, make the most out of it.

To keep the assigned reading load manageable, we will regularly read several pages of material in class. That will require concentrating for 10 minutes in silent study.

Reading Notes: 30%

For each meeting, you are expected to submit a short reading summary to canvas. These notes summarize in your own words the topic, main arguments and facts, the author(s) make and, if relevant, the evidence they use to corroborate their claims.

There will be times when you truly dislike this assignment. But it's worth your time. It will help you will hone your retention, writing and analytical skills.

Please submit your note on canvas. You will only be able to see the other contributions once you have submitted yours. Each note is graded on a scale of 1-5 with .25 increments.

Please make sure to submit your note by 2.30 pm the day of.

Essay I (12 pages): Open 25%

You are expected to submit an independent research paper that presents a meaningful, coherent, and convincing argument and demonstrates a sound use of primary sources and secondary literature.

You are free to discuss any topic of your choice (e.g. person, event, country, etc.) within Cold War sports history.

Please submit your choice of topic to the non-graded assignment on canvas by March 17, 2023, on canvas. Ideally, include a preliminary list of ideas, literature, and sources you wish to consult.

Deadline: April 3, 2023, EOD canvas turnitin

Essay II (8 pages): Movie 20%

Pick a movie from the list below and analyze its content within the Cold War. You are expected to write a scholarly analysis of the movie, i.e. you have to analyze its content and situate it within Cold War sports history. This is an intellectual exercise that allows you to showcase your research, writing, and analytical skills. (It is not a Rotten Tomatoes review.)

You are free to take a specific angle or approach to the analysis as long as the paper renders meaningful results and coherent, conclusive arguments. This assignment requires consulting secondary and primary sources.

You have to introduce the movie, the topic of your paper, and a well-argued, well-structured argument highlighting the context and the relevance of the movie within Cold War sports history.

Please submit your choice of movie to a non-graded assignment on canvas by April 3, 2023. Ideally include preliminary ideas, literature, and sources you wish to consult.

Selection of movies:

- Miracle on Ice, dir. by Steven Hilliard Stern, 1981. [alternatively: Miracle, dir. by Gavin O'Connor, 2004.]
- Rocky IV, dir. by Sylvester Stalone, 1985.
- The Miracle of Bern [Das Wunder von Bern], dir. by Sönke Wortmann, 2003.
- Children of Glory [Szabadság, Szerelem], dir. by Krisztina Goda, 2006.

Deadline: April 23, 2023, EOD canvas turnitin

General policies

Absences

Absences are excused for illness, religious observance, participation in certain university activities, and other circumstances described in the university's policies and must be explained at least 2 hours before class.

Mental Health

Please note that a new university-wide website has been created to provide information on a wide variety of services available to support student wellness. You can find this website at <http://wellness.jhu.edu>.

If you are struggling with anxiety, stress, depression, or other mental health related concerns, please consider visiting the JHU Counseling Center. If you are concerned about a friend, please encourage that person to seek out their services. The Counseling Center is located at 3003 North Charles Street in Suite S-200 and can be reached at 410-516-8278 and online at <http://studentaffairs.jhu.edu/counselingcenter/>.

Academic Integrity

The strength of the university depends on academic and personal integrity. In this course, you must be honest and truthful. Ethical violations include cheating on exams, plagiarism, reuse of assignments, improper use of the Internet and electronic devices, unauthorized collaboration, alteration of graded assignments, forgery and falsification, lying, facilitating academic dishonesty, and unfair competition.

For more, see: <https://studentaffairs.jhu.edu/policies-guidelines/undergrad-ethics/>

Accommodations

Accommodations will be made for those who need them. Please come talk with me in the first two weeks of the semester to discuss your needs. Any student with a disability who may need accommodations in this class must obtain an accommodation letter from Student Disability Services, 385 Garland, (410) 516-4720, studentdisabilityservices@jhu.edu.

Religious holidays

Religious holidays are valid reasons to be excused from class. Students who must miss a class or an examination because of a religious holiday must inform the instructor as early in the semester as possible in order to be excused from class or to make up any work that is missed. More information may be found at the Religious and Spiritual Life (<https://studentaffairs.jhu.edu/campus-ministries/>) website.

Classroom Climate

I am committed to creating a classroom environment that values the diversity of experiences and perspectives that all students bring. Everyone here has the right to be treated with dignity and respect. I believe fostering an inclusive climate is important because research and my experience show that students who interact with peers who are different from themselves learn new things and experience tangible educational outcomes. Note that you should expect to be challenged intellectually by me, the TAs, and your peers, and at times this may feel uncomfortable. Indeed, it can be helpful to be pushed sometimes in order to learn and grow. But at no time in this learning process should someone be singled out or treated unequally on the basis of any seen or unseen part of their identity.

If you ever have concerns in this course about harassment, discrimination, or any unequal treatment, or if you seek accommodations or resources, I invite you to share directly with me or the TAs. We will take your communication seriously and seek mutually acceptable resolutions and accommodations. Reporting will never impact your course grade. You may also share concerns with the department chair, Professor Toby Meyer-Fong, the Director of Undergraduate Studies, Professor Erin Rowe, the Assistant Dean for Diversity and Inclusion Dr. Araceli Frias, or the Office of Institutional Equity (oie@jhu.edu). In handling reports, people will protect your privacy as much as possible, but faculty and staff are required to officially report information for some cases (e.g. sexual harassment).

Sexual Assault Helpline

The Sexual Assault Helpline (410-516-7333) is a confidential service of the Johns Hopkins University Counseling Center. Trained professional counselors are available to students, and offer support, provide resources or answer questions 24/7.

Screen Policy

Laptops, smartphones, and other devices are both a boon and a distraction to higher education. You are discouraged from using social media, texting, chatting, email, and all class unrelated activities during class time. Make sure all your devices are silenced.
